NEW PLACES TO WHET YOUR APPETITE IN DOWNTOWN LAS VEGAS

By Yvonne Newman

Searching for interesting dining experiences in downtown Las Vegas? Just about everywhere you look these days eateries have popped up—from boisterous gastropubs and top-notch steakhouses to quirky cantinas and stylish pizzerias. Here are four new hotspots for eating, drinking and more!

JOE VICARI'S ANDIAMO ITALIAN STEAKHOUSE

Located on the second floor of the D Las Vegas, this elegant restaurant was imported from Michigan. Known for using only the freshest ingredients—including free-range chickens and premium beef from the country's top butchers—everything is prepared from scratch daily. You won't find a juicier steak or tastier Italian breads, pastas and sauces anywhere else in town. Plus, the cannoli is beyond compare.

isn't a place to grab a slice on the go. RCP is a gourmet pizzeria with brightly lit neon windows and a contemporary sports bar vibe, thanks to 26 flat-screen TVs. The tasty pies can be made with traditional, whole wheat or gluten-free crusts. Among the signature combinations are the Chicken Parmesan, Breakfast and Radio City Hawaiian pizzas. 🍕

LA COMIDA

This Mexican cantina with a pink neon monkey skeleton sign and an open kitchen is the latest concept from restaurateur Michael Morton. The 3,000-square-foot restaurant on Sixth and Fremont Streets is in a space that formerly housed El Cortez's laundry facility. La Comida serves pozole, Mayan shrimp, enchiladas and a Mexican burger, among other traditional Mexican fare. One not-to-miss item is the Pollo al Horno, made with chicken, Mexican squash and achiote sauce. The drink menu features fresh fruit margaritas in Mason jars.

PARK ON FREMONT

This bicycle-friendly gastropub took over the corner of Fremont Street and Las Vegas Boulevard. Dishes like stuffed burgers, Reubens and fried chicken and waffle sandwiches are hearty and flavorful. The drink menu is also impressive with 100 beer selections from around the world and specialty Bloody Marys. All of the cocktails are served in mismatched glassware. Sip them on the lush back patio, which is framed by ornate fencing and boasts a seesaw, a mosaic tile hopscotch and a Cinderella-style carriage blooming with pots of colorful flowers.
